Research Abstract

Our laboratory focuses on the contribution of the immune system to stroke outcome. In particular, we are interested in autoimmune responses (both cellular and humoral) to brain antigens after stroke and how they may affect functional outcome. We are also interested in how post-stroke infection contributes to these autoimmune responses to brain and how these responses may be manipulated to improve outcome.